Before they come home

A practical starting point. Adapt this list with your breeder and veterinarian.

Confirm collection time, travel plans, and who will be home.

Ask for the familiar food, routines, and care instructions.

Arrange a veterinary appointment and save contact details.

Prepare a place for documents and handover notes.

Agree on household responsibilities for the first week.

Confirm which supplies are already included in the handover.

Write down questions you want answered before collection.

Questions for your breeder

Take notes during the conversation. Ask for records, not just reassurance.

What does a typical day look like for this puppy?

Which food and routine should we discuss with our vet?

Which health and registration documents will come home?

What words, experiences, and objects are already familiar?

How can we contact you with questions after handover?

What should we know about this individual puppy?
